

Canadian Red Cross

Registration and assistance for people impacted by the 2021 B.C. fires

The Canadian Red Cross is here to support people evacuated from their homes due to the wildfires in British Columbia. We encourage you to register with the Red Cross to see if assistance may be available for you.

Registration

If you are under mandatory evacuation order, please call 1-800-863-6582 to register with the Red Cross.

People who have already registered with British Columbia Emergency Support Services, or are staying with family and friends, also need to register with Red Cross to access support.

Registration with Red Cross ensures you can be contacted while evacuated, including with information on further services and assistance that may become available during this time of need.

For further information about Red Cross support, please visit redcross.ca/2021bcfires.

Additional Support

Canadian Red Cross recognizes that emergencies can take a toll on a person's wellbeing. Support and resources are available during these challenging times of increased stress and anxiety, including online resources at redcross.ca/2021bcfires.